Third Quarter 2010

SEG of the Quarter: ESI Electronic Systems, Inc.

We salute ESI as our Select Employee Group of the Quarter. Since 1980, Electronic Systems, Inc. (ESI) has grown into the region's largest provider of customized and scalable technology solutions with nearly 500 employees.

ESI generously supports a number of causes in the community, such as The Food Bank. One of their fundraisers is the Beach Bag program, which acts as a supplement to the Kids Cafés hosted by local food banks. During the school year, Kids Cafés locations provide a safe haven and hot evening meals to at-risk children in the community. But when schools are out for the summer, Kids Cafés are closed and students no longer have an opportunity to receive free breakfasts and lunches at their schools. ESI designed the Beach Bag program to help bridge this gap. By providing children with a tote bag full of healthy snacks, it ensures that children do not go hungry during the start of summer vacation.

For the third year in a row, ESI employees took up the call to action by shopping for and purchasing kid-friendly, non-perishable, nutritious foods and bringing them to work. ESI donated bright red nylon beach bags, and employees worked together to sort all of the items collected and fill the bags at their offices. The company then took the bags to community sites and distributed them directly to needy children on the last day of school.

Thank you, ESI employees for your dedication and spirit of community.

Staff of ESI delivers Beach Bags for at-risk children in the community.

HR Corner: Returning Phone Calls

Time management professionals claim that you should set aside an hour each day to make and return your phone calls. But which hour? The best times of the day are the first two hours of the morning, and the last two hours of the afternoon. This is when most people are in the office and accessible.
